F. W. HELMICK the well known music publisher, at Cincinnati, has made an assignment.

COL. CALLED PORTWOOD, the Cincinnati Enquirer says, wants to be Insurance Commissioner for Kentucky.

The bill establishing a Railroad Commission in Tennessee, lately passed by the Legislature, has been signed by the Governor and is now a law.

It has been decided by the Supreme Court of Rhode Island that the Legislature has no power to call a convention to change the State constitution.

The divorce suit at Cincinnati by Mrs. Helen Young against her husband, Gen. Hal C. Young, which has been a big bonanza to the papers of that city for weeks past, was decided on Saturday in favor of Mrs. Young.

REPRESENTATIVE OCHILTREE, of Texas, is to be paid his salary, notwithstanding he is a defaulter to the Government, on the ground that his office is a constitutional one, and is exempted from claims against it of all kinds.

The time for filing suits to be considered at the coming term of the Circuit Court expired on Saturday. Up to that time there were fifty-nine appearances of which thirty-six were common law and twenty-three were equity cases.

SENATOR RANDALL L. GIBSON, of Louisiana, has written a highly complimentary letter to Captain James B. Eads, based upon the services of the latter as a member of the Mississippi River Commission. The successor of Capt. Eads will probably be Col. Flad, of St. Louis.

JUDGE JACKSON, of Louisville has decided that a man is a competent juror notwithstanding the fact that he has read in the newspapers an account of the crime he is called upon to sit in judgment over. The rulings heretofore has had the effect to drive intelligence from the jury box to give way to ignorance. Judge Jackson's decision is a wise one and if followed up by the other Judges of the Commonwealth will bring about a vast improvement in the intelligence and efficiency of the juries in the State.

The Harrisburg (Pa.) Patriot says: It seems, according to Third Assistant Postmaster General Hazen, that General Grant's vignette will not adorn the new postage stamp. The spirit of the statute, if not the letter, forbids the decoration of the stamp with the head of any living person, and the provision of the law is to be invoked to prevent Grant's stolid features from appearing on the new two-cent. As the position is not one of emolument, Gen. Grant will not grieve much over the fact, though the country will rest under some apprehension until it is announced that Hayes will not be given the place. The statute would not run against him, unless there are other provisions to reach the case. General Hazen probably exceeds his authority in promising Grant a place on the stamp after he dies. He is not likely to die within two years, and after that time Gen. Hazen will have very little influence in making the selection.

THE TWO GLASSES.

There sat two glasses, filled to the brim.
On a rich man's table, rim to rim;
One was ruddy, and red as blood,
And one as clear as the crystal flood;
Said the glass of wine to the paler brother,
"Let us tell the tales of the past to each other."
I can tell of banquet and revel and mirth,
And the proudest and grandest souls on earth
Fell under my touch, as though struck by blight.
Where I was a King, for I ruled in might.
From the heads of kings I have torn the crowns.
From the heights of fame I have hurled men down.
I have blasted oars an honored name;
I have taken virtue and given shame;
I have tempted the youth with a sip, a taste,
That has made his future barren waste.
Far greater than King am I,
Or than any army beneath the sky;
I have made the arm of the driver fall,
And sent the train from the iron fall;
I have made good ships go down at sea,
And the skulls of the lost were sweet to me.
For they said, "Behold, how great you be,
Fame, strength, wealth, genius before you fell."
For your might and power are over all.
"Hail not pale brother," laughed the wine,
"Can you boast of deeds as great as mine?"
Said the water glass, "I cannot boast
Of a King dethroned or a murdered host,
But I can tell of a heart, once sad,
By my crystal drops made light and glad—
Of this I've quenched, of brooms I've loved,
Of hands I have cooled and souls I have saved;
I have leaped through the valley, dashed
down the mountain.
Flowed in the river and played in the fountain,
Slept in the sunshine and dropped from the sky.
And every where gladdened the landscape and
eye;
I have eased the hot forehead of fever and
pain;
I have made the parched meadows grow fertile with grain;
I can tell of the powerful wheel of the mill
That ground out the flour and turned at my will;
I can tell of manhood debased by you
That I lifted up and crowned anew.
I cheer, I help, I strengthen and aid;
I gladden the heart of man and maid;
I set the chain-wine captive free,
And all are better for knowing me."
These are the tales they told each other—
The glass of wine and paler brother—
As they sat together, filled to the brim,
On the rich man's table, rim to rim.

Curiosities of the Census Tables.

The census report is no better than it should be, but it nevertheless furnishes some valuable information and affords curious subjects for reflection. It has been very expensive and exceedingly dilatory, but coming along as it has in installments the better opportunity has been given to study it in detail. A writer in the Washington Post has been giving attention to the comparative figures it presents and he has been enabled to draw some surprising as well as interesting deductions from the analysis. The net production of the country, according to this investigator, was at the time the enumeration occurred $7,422,237,398. Of this vast sum an equal division, without regard to capital, would make $148 a head or about $740 to each family. The total number of persons classified as having occupations aggregates 17,505,099. This embraces all ages and sexes and includes traders, bankers, the professions, artisans and laborers of all kinds. Of this number 4,225,945 are farmers, 3,323,876 farm laborers, 2,738,895 manufacturing employees and 500,000 are employed in mines, quarries, factories and petroleum development. They represent 6,800,000 families 34,000,000 of the population and earn $3,391,710,672. In trades and transportation enterprises there are employed 1,200,000 persons. Under this classification is included merchants and bankers and to it is credited a total production of $480,000,000. Another class is made to represent domestic servants of whom there are 1,076,655 and laborers not otherwise classified of whom there are 1,859,225, the combined proceeds of whose effort is estimated at $560,000,000. There are 227,000 teachers whose total offering at $400 each aggregates $90,800,000, and 600,000 mechanics whose skilled labor at an average of $500 to each, reaches a total of $300,000,000. These four classes represent 2,200,000 families, and 11,000,000 souls. Thus in the various classifications enumerated all except 1,000,000 families and 5,000,000 of the population are accounted for and the products except the profits of all classes of labor and enterprise which is grouped in the difference between the figures and the grand total amounting to $5,600,000,000, which is an average gain of 3.65 per cent. a year.

The following is from the Frankfort Yeoman: Mrs. Catherine F. Rand, wife of Mr. J. W. Rand, mother of Col. Wm. S. Rand and Mrs. Lucy R. Henry, died in Lewis county March 20th, in the seventy-seventh year of her age. She was a lady of very marked character, and many excellent Christian virtues. Her husband taught school for more than a half century, and was at the head of the Maysville Seminary (Rand and Richeson) where Gen. U. S. Grant, Col. W. H. Wadsworth, Hon. E. C. Piester, General Geo. B. Hodge, and a number of other persons of prominence were pupils.

MR. PARNELL will arrive in this country some time next week.

An Uncrowned Queen.

CAMDEN, N. J., April 1.—Mrs. Rebecca Barnes, a colored woman, living at Broadway and Mechanic street, has made a peculiar claim, well substantiated, to being the heiress to the title of Queen of Guinea. She has lived for many years in the city, and never spoken of her claim. Efforts have been made, it seems, on the part of a firm trading with Guinea, to discover the descendants of the Queen who was stolen eighty years ago, and who, Mrs. Barnes says, was her grandmother, because a large amount of valuables have been left in the hands of this firm for her. Several persons have been so thoroughly convinced of the truth of all these statements that they have written to the State Department and elsewhere in search of information as to the best methods to follow in an effort to secure the estate to the woman.

A Young Wife's Suicide.

CLEVELAND, O., April 1.—A special from Willoughby, Lake county, says: Mrs. Edward Barnes committed suicide this morning at 11 o'clock by taking arsenic. She expired in a short time. She was the wife of Edward Barnes, a well-known merchant, and had only been married but a short time. The cause of her deed is not known.

A Famine Imminent in Scotland.

EDINBURGH, April 1.—The great destitution which for some time has prevailed in the west of Scotland threatens to assume even more serious proportions. In certain parts of Skye and the Western Islands the condition of the people is deplorable, for not only are they absolutely devoid of present means of subsistence, but unless prompt assistance be forthcoming in the shape of funds wherewith to procure seed, corn and potatoes, nothing can avert an extension and perpetuation of the calamity.

Snow Storm.

NEW YORK, April 1.—A heavy snow storm has been prevailing on the Atlantic coast for the past thirty-six hours. The snow at Long Branch is eight inches deep.

SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY.

—The salmon fisheries of the Pacific coast have increased twenty-fold within the past ten years.

—Marble slabs for furniture are now being imitated in glass by an enterprising firm in Pittsburgh.

—The oddish hatching experiments of Professor Baird, conducted at Gloucester last year, have resulted, it is said, in large quantities of little "edfish" being seen off the New Hampshire coast.

—In Rochester, $20,000 has been subscribed to start a school of instruction in shoemaking, so that manufacturers can be independent of the shoemakers' union, the project being literally the last educational undertaking.—N. Y. Times.

—Governor Hawkins, of Tennessee, thinks the prospects of the South as a manufacturing-section are very flattering, and is especially enthusiastic about his own State. About $2,000,000 are now invested in Tennessee in cotton factories, and they are in a prosperous condition, paying large profits.

—The enormous demand for paper for use as writing and printing material prevents the extended employment of paper mache as a substitute in buildings for plaster and wood; but cotton, the production of which is unlimited, promises to be largely used in this new capacity. Treated with certain chemicals and compressed it can be made perfectly fire-proof and as hard as stone.—Chicago News.

—The Government of Victoria, Australia, has been empowered to expend the amount of more than $12,000,000 in building additional lines of railway. Most of the roads will be for the purpose of opening up the agricultural districts. They will not be costly or intended to carry fast trains. In all there will be fifty-six lines built, and their aggregate length will not exceed 827 1-2 miles.

—Frequently it is important to know whether there is lead in "tin" paper. This is the method given for its detection in a leading foreign technical journal: A drop of concentrated acetic acid is let fall upon the suspected leaf, and a drop of a solution of potassium iodide is added. If there is lead present there is formed in two or three minutes a yellowish spot of lead iodide. Dr. Kopp moistens the leaf to be examined with sulphuric acid. If the tin is pure the spot remains white, but if lead is present there is a black spot.

—Experiments have been made in England with a gas lamp composed of two pipes, one of which supplies gas in the ordinary way and the other air slightly compressed by the weight of a column of water. Upon the burner is a cap of fine platinum wire gauze which, a few seconds after the current of mingled gas and air has been ignited, gives forth a brilliant incandescent glow like that of the electric lamp. Arrangements have been made for lighting a number of London thoroughfares with this light, which, it is asserted, is cheaper than the ordinary gaslight.—N. Y. Sun.

—Switzerland has 1,504 miles of railroad, representing over $200,000,000 of capital. These railroads do not pay well; some have paid no interest for years, even to debenture holders. Over 13,000 persons are employed.
